

telecommunications companies are not giving correct information on how to handle shutting down or changing services, etc. resulting in dunning phone bills, sent at a later date. a third party should be required as a witness for shutting down service or making changes. there is no accountability for the telecommunications businesses. they should be required to give their correct fax numbers so we can advise them in writing.